

DOT Examination Information

The Federal Motor Safety Carrier Administration (FMCSA) has made many changes in the examination paperwork and procedure for drivers. Among these changes, the Medical Examiner is required:

- to notify FMCSA of any driver who fails an exam
- to notify FMCSA who fails to complete an exam
- to perform a new physical and certification each time an existing certification expires

For those drivers who have certain medical conditions or restrictions it is necessary to have all of the required medical information for the examiner to make a determination

The following list includes some of the most common medical conditions and restrictions for Commercial Drivers. If any of these conditions apply to you, it is strongly recommended that you review to ensure you have everything that will be needed to complete the exam today. If information is absent or incomplete it may result in a delay in certification and require additional time and money to repeat an exam. You may want to return for your exam at another time when you have everything you need.

- Diabetes
If you have Diabetes, you will need to have a lab report of your A1C level that is less than 6 months old.
- Hearing problem
If you require hearing aids to hear properly, you must use them for the examination. If hearing problems are discovered during the exam, additional tests may be required.
- Heart problems
If you have any history of heart attack, bypass, stent, balloon angioplasty, pacemaker or other heart problems, a letter from your cardiologist is required. The letter must be dated less than 6 months before the examination. For certain conditions, you may be required to have certain tests and will need to bring those reports also.
- High Blood Pressure
FMCSA recommendations and Stages of Hypertension will be followed. If you have High Blood Pressure and are not taking medication, your Blood Pressure may not meet the requirements.
- Medications
Some medications can cause drowsiness or sleepiness. If this applies, you will be required to bring a letter from the physician who prescribed the medication stating that it is safe for you to drive a commercial vehicle.
- Surgeries or Procedures
If you have had any type of surgery within the past 6 months you will need a letter from your doctor stating that you have been cleared to return to work and to drive a commercial vehicle.
- Sleep Apnea
If you have a history of Sleep Apnea you will need to provide either a sleep study less than 6 months of age, or a report from your CPAP machine that shows the number of Apneic episodes (breathing pauses) and compliance with the treatment.
  - If the doctor suspects you might have sleep apnea, you may be required to have a sleep study. If you have had one in the past 12 months and it shows you do NOT have Sleep Apnea, it is very important that you bring that report with you to the exam.
- Vision Problem
FMCSA standard for vision will be followed. If you need glasses or contact lenses for distance vision or driving, you must have them with you for this exam. If you have previously obtained a Texas State or a Federal Vision Exemption, you will need a copy of that form and a current report from your eye doctor to give to examiner.
